

Anti-abortionists defend tactics

To the Editor:

Re: "No way to win an argument"

I was one of the persons involved in the presentation that took place last week in front of the local high school.

Our purpose was to show the truth about abortion to young people and not to try to win an argument. Abortion does not remove a bunch of cells nor a blub. It removes and kills an innocent pre-born baby, who dies a horrible death. Anyone seeing these photographs of these mangled babies have a right to be angry. Because for 33 years we have been told a big lie.

Martha Perkins in her editorial last week said the same. "Although it was necessary to view a fetus as a non-living being as a way of getting abortion rights through the courts, it's wrong to think a fetus is not real".

Does that mean we should keep lying about abortion to our young people? She goes on to say about the unborn baby "it's always a form of human life". That is our purpose and our reason for doing what we do. Defend all forms and stages of human life. From conception until natural death.

Alida van der Vegt,
Peterborough

