

Show the Truth is a pro-life strategy dedicated to showing the truth of abortion to the Canadian public. We are committed to a peaceful and legal means of education through displaying large photographs of children in the womb and abortion.

“Why show the images?”

Throughout history images have been instrumental in social reform. People working against slavery, child labour, discrimination against African Americans, and in the aftermath of the Holocaust used pictures of the injustices to raise public awareness. Most Canadians are familiar with disturbing images shown to the public: one example is pictures showing the effects of smoking on the lungs. Images are powerful and legitimate tools for awaking people and arousing them to action.

“I don’t think anyone who has seen those pictures will ever forget them!”
Justice McGowen, St. Thomas

“In less than a 15 second interval a message had been delivered in total silence...the poster had spoken for itself.”
Jim Glover, Sturgeon Falls

“Are children negatively affected by these images?”

We have studied this concern extensively and have come to the following conclusions. Very small children do not comprehend the graphic nature of the signs. Young school children look and ask, “What happened to the baby?” An honest answer from a loving parent will put the child at ease. Preteens and young teen agers take an interest in the signs and ask for more information.

“I’m glad I saw these pictures. If I didn’t I might make a big mistake when I got older.”
11 year old, Brantford

“As my 10 year old daughter began to ask questions, I was able to tell her about abortion and what it does to a beautiful little baby.”
Cheryl Webb, Port Perry

“What about women who have had an abortion?”

Post-abortive women and those who counsel them agree that women need to know the truth about abortion. It is necessary that the woman come to terms with the reality that abortion killed her child. The ends the stage of denial so the healing process can begin. Some women attribute the beginning of the rehabilitation to an encounter with a film or image showing an abortion. Many women who have had abortions have told us that they would not have had an abortion if they had known the truth.

“Most folks won’t choose to look at graphic pictures, but once they do they will never get the image out of their minds. Those images work on their consciences. Hearts are changed.”
Mary VanVeen Woodstock

“Yes, abortion is disturbing and people should be disturbed when they see pictures of aborted babies. That’s the point!”
Jean Hedley, Holyrod

“Bottom line: if you can’t handle the pictures, how can you condone the act?”
Trish Boyko, Uxbridge

“How can I get involved?”

You can invite Show the Truth to your community or come and join us on our missions. Show the Truth is a non-profit volunteer organization run entirely on donations. People of all ages and backgrounds and families are welcome.

It is a great joy to be part of such a project. We are changing the world by awakening the public to this great injustice in our midst. It is time to act! Innocent children threatened in the womb need us! Will you respond to their “Silent Scream”? As Christ said, “Whatever you do unto the least of these, my brethren, you do unto Me.”
